

may 2023

Livingetc

LEADING BY DESIGN

DESIGN YOUR HAPPY PLACE

PATTERNS, TEXTURES AND COLOURS
TO ELEVATE EVERY ROOM
THE JOY OF THE PERFECT NOOK
NEW-SEASON PALETTES THE BEST
CREATIVES LOVE NOW

NEW UTILITARIAN

Challenging the perception of metal as cold and rigid, Fantin's range of tables by Giulio Iacchetti is comfortingly named Hug - inspired by the way the horizontal frame literally hugs the slanting tube legs together, joining them with a cross section under the top. The tables also offer an elegant new way with utilitarian design. Sophistication is key, but practicality is still forefront: the frame accommodates an attachable tray, pen holder or bag hanger.

COLOUR POP

You can always identify Alessi products by the brand's unique and playful approach to everyday items - and one of its undoubtedly iconic designs, Michael Graves' 9093 kettle, has been revamped with two new brighter colourways and a smaller size. It's an example of how to use small, sharp accents of colour in a joyful but sophisticated way - because, of course, there's always room to add a bit of fun to everyday pieces.

AT HOME OUTDOORS

Reflective of the fact that we place more importance on our gardens, we're increasingly looking for outdoor furniture that feels homely and elevated, like this reinterpretation of the Crono chair by Flexform. This outdoor version in the form of dining chairs and armchairs can be crafted in a variety of colour combinations.

REFINED STORAGE

You can stop your seemingly never-ending search for beautiful storage. With the addition of new accessories, Bontempi Casa's Charlotte bookcase - known for its sleek style and functionality - transforms into a multifunctional piece of furniture. A new glass cabinet complements the structure by striking a warm balance between wood, metal and glass, revealing the play of reflections of the objects on display.